

Lord I Thank You

Did you know that we are to thank him in the Good and the Bad? To praise him when we want to and when we don't. This is something that I came across today that I had written right after I had lost our baby this February. It was an unbearable time. I felt like I was suffocating. But I knew the only way through it all was to THANK HIM. I know that PRAISE is what binds back our hearts. If you are going through anything today- May HIS peace rest in you....

I am jumbled
I am alone
I am scared
I am paranoid
I am quick to cry
Slow to smile

Lord I thank you

I am protective
I am guarded
I am unsteady
I am questioning
I am astonished
I am weathered

Lord I thank you

Your Grace is sufficient- Lord I thank you
Your Mercy never fails- Lord I praise you
Your Joy comes in the morning- Lord I worship you

My heart feels it
My lips will soon repeat it
Lord I thank you

For you do all things perfectly
Ignore my silent screams
Please see that I am trying to radiate you
Lord I thank you
